

Design decisions - Krogkollen

We've decided that our minimum requirement of api level should be 14. This is because the (some of the functionalities of the) action bar, that we use quite extensively in our application, aren't supported in the previous versions but also because we didn't have a phone with a lower api level to try the application on.

The minimum requirement of the admin application is 16. This decision was made on the same basis as the decision made for the main application. The only difference lies in that the admin application uses advanced notifications which requires API 16.

For the rest of the design we've basically tried to make it consistent with already existing design standards for android and there's also consistent design everywhere in the application.
